

NASA's Getting Ready to Explore the Corpse of an Ancient Planet in the Asteroid Belt

By Rafi Letzter 6/18/2019 Science & Astronomy

An illustration shows the probe approaching Psyche. (Image: © NASA/JPL-Caltech/Arizona State Univ./Space Systems Loral/Peter Rubin)

The naked metallic core of a dead, early planet should soon get a visitor. Orbiting the sun between Mars and Jupiter, the bizarre space rock is the target of a NASA mission that just entered its final design phase this week.

The space agency has targeted the date of Jan. 31, 2026, for the arrival of a spacecraft in the neighborhood of Psyche, a 125-mile-wide (200 kilometers) object in the asteroid belt. Planetary scientists have long suspected that Psyche — named after the nymph who married Cupid in Greek mythology — made up almost entirely of iron and nickel, might be the exposed core of a long-dead protoplanet from the early days of our solar system. The planet could have once boasted a girth similar to that of Mars before ancient collisions ripped its outer, rocky shell from its relatively dinky core.

Workers on the Psyche mission hope that their probe might provide more conclusive evidence for that theory and reveal new information about the swirling cloud of matter from which our ancient neighborhood first formed.

Video

https://www.space.com/asteroid-psyche-probe-iron-mission.html?utm_source=sd-newsletter&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=20190620-sdc&jwsourc=cl

"With the transition into this new mission phase, we are one big step closer to uncovering the secrets of Psyche, a giant mysterious metallic asteroid, and that means the world to us," Lindy Elkins-Tanton, an Arizona State University planetary scientist and principal investigator on the Psyche mission, said in a statement. [Doomsday: 9 Real Ways Earth Could End]

Psyche has a mass of about 49 billion billion lbs. (22 billion billion kilograms), making it 0.03% the mass of our moon. While it's the eleventh most massive known asteroid in the solar system — a few hundredths of the mass of monsters like Ceres and Vesta — those even-larger asteroids are made up primarily of rock and ice. Psyche is by far the largest known object of its nearly-pure metallic type orbiting our sun.

The Psyche probe should orbit the metal object for a couple weeks, collecting data about its age and how it formed. During this final design phase, engineers will draw up final plans for and build many of the parts that will make up the final spacecraft. (They won't be assembled into one piece until the next phase, in 2021.)

If everything goes according to plan, the mission should launch in August 2022, swing by Mars in 2023 and approach Psyche three years later.

Originally published on Live Science.

Remnant of the Light

Prophecy in the News

P.S.

The lawless one is still trying to put his kingdom together to defeat JAHWAH and rise above in riches (all the probes to check minerals want and to mine the asteroids and explore the core of the planet(greed). I personally believe the dwarf planet Ceres was satellite that orbited Rahab and Vesta could a large piece of the remains of Rahab.

Scriptures to show the Destruction of Rahab and evidence found (by science) to support (witness) scripture.

Job 26:12 By his power he stilled the sea; by his understanding he shattered Rahab. (ESV)

Job 26:12 He stirs up the sea with his power, and by his understanding he strikes through Rahab. (WEB)

Job 26:12 He stirreth up the sea with his power, and by his understanding he smiteth through Rahab. (RV)

Strong's Plus dictionary will help with other versions

History of the lawless one (the proud one)

A Lament over the King of Tyre/lawless one/adversary (MKJV)

Eze 28:11 And the Word of JAHWAH came to me, saying,

Eze 28:12 Son of man, lift up a lament over the king of Tyre/lawless one/adversary, and say to him, So says JAHWAH ALMIGHTY: You seal the measure, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.

Eze 28:13 You have been in Eden the garden of Qodesh (holiness); every precious stone was your covering, the ruby, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the turquoise, and the emerald, and gold. The workmanship of your tambourines and of your flutes was prepared in you in the day that you were created.

Eze 28:14 You were the anointed cherub that covers, and I had put you in the holy height of the ALMIGHTY where you were; you have walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire. (Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars and Rahab)

Eze 28:15 You were perfect in your ways from the day that you were created, until iniquity was found in you.

Eze 28:16 By the multitude of your goods they have filled your midst with violence, and you have sinned. So I cast you profaned from the height of the ALMIGHTY, and I destroy you, O covering cherub, from among the stones of fire.

Eze 28:17 Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty; you have spoiled your wisdom because of your brightness. I will cast you to the ground (Earth, Rev 12 7-17); I will put you before kings, that they may behold you. (Isa 14 12-17)

Eze 28:18 By the host of your iniquities, by the iniquity of your trade, you have profaned your holy places; so I brought a fire from your midst; it shall devour you, and I will give you for ashes on the earth, before the eyes of all who see you.

Eze 28:19 All who know you among the peoples shall be astonished at you; you shall be terrors, and you will not be forever.

Have a blessed day,

Kepha